got my path wrong for the sbb autoupdATER

Posted by dazz - 2017/02/11 15:54

_____

COULD SOME ONE HELP ME GET BACK TO THE PLACE WHERE I SET MY PATH FOR AUTOUPDATER BITTEN

==

Aw: got my path wrong for the sbb autoupdATER

Posted by gripkeeper - 2017/02/11 17:07

_____

start autoupdater

select konfiguration

select the TAB Pfade

the upper entry you have to write the path to Assetto Corsa main folder (where the AC is installed)

the entry below you have to write the path to your Assetto download archive hope that helps

==

Re:Aw: got my path wrong for the sbb autoupdATER

Posted by dazz - 2017/02/11 18:38

_____

where do i send the 7z: dll file to and the auto updater

==

Aw: Re:Aw: got my path wrong for the sbb autoupdATER

Posted by gripkeeper - 2017/02/11 19:05

_____

you have to create a folder for your own(where all the updater data you want to archive).

then set-write the path of the folder you created, to the entry below the upper one.(SBB archive is the one for the updater data) http://www.schwarzbierbude.de/images/fbfiles/images/up1.JPG and remember to not write the path from this example pic.the path must be the right one from the folder you created on your PC .that can be a different path as from the example.

==

Re:Aw: Re:Aw: got my path wrong for the sbb autoupdATER

Posted by dazz - 2017/02/11 19:39

_____

where do i find that box,,and what do i do with the 7zdll file

==

Aw: got my path wrong for the sbb autoupdATER

Posted by eSKaeS - 2017/02/11 20:51

_____

You find that box in the upper left corner of the autoupdater. You just have to click on the symbol with the working tools on it. Then you have to click on "Pfade" (Paths) to set your archive folder and the original assetto corsa folder.

==